Power Commission Urged To Continue Contract To 1946

Newmarket council at a special meeting Monday night unanimously passed a resolution urging the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario to continue their present contract to the end of 1945. The contract expires in April of 1945 and F. W. Rothwell, provincial commission representative, stated definitely to the council that the commission would not consider renewing the contract.

A motion from Councillor Joseph Vale, seconded by Councillor Frank Bowser, that the commission be asked to extend the contract for five years, was defeated. A second motion from Councillors Vale and Bowser, that the commission be asked to extend the contract for the duration and six months, was also defeated by a recorded vote. Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales, Reeve Fred. Lundy and Councillors Bowser and Vale recorded yeas. Deputy-Reeve Arthur Evans and Councillors Joel Spillette, Wm. Dixon, A. V. Higginson and J. A. Perks recorded nays.

Mr. Rothwell said that he would recommend to the commission that the contract be carried over to the end of 1945 so that the establishment of a commission might be placed on the same ballot as the town elections.

Town Clerk and Solicitor Norman L. Mathews said that the present members of the water and light committee are experienced in their jobs and that it would be a blow to council were these experienced men placed on a commission where they would be unavailable as council members in the middle of the year.

Mr. Rothwell told the council the town would have to maintain separate books for power expenditure and income for the coming years so that commission experts might figure the rate, under the commission, for Newmarket.

Mr. Rothwell said: "To set up a commission, council must first pass an enabling by-law and then the question: 'Are you in favor of obtaining a supply of power from the Hydro-Electric Power Commission?' is submitted to the electorate. The question answered affirmatively, the town comes under the Power Commission Act."

Councillor Vale: "If the vote is negative?"

Mr. Rothwell: "I don't think there is a part of the act concerning a negative vote."

Mr. Mathews: "Would there be any possibility of the town continuing under the present contract for the duration and paying a higher rate?"

Mr. Rothwell: "The commission will play ball with the council until the end of 1945. The commission does ask that the enabling by-law for town commission be passed so that the machinery for the local commission can swing into immediate action at the end of 1945."

Mr. Mathews: "Who fixes the rates for power?"

Mr. Rothwell: "The provincial commission approves them."

Councillor Vale: "Who initiates the rates?"

Mr. Rothwell: "Provincial commission does. The provincial commission representatives will come up to help you set up your books and look over your wiring system."

It was at this point that Councillor Vale moved his first resolution asking an extension of the contract. He said that since the commission had not stated definitely in writing that there would be no extension and citing previous experiences in which the council had gained an extension of contract although told it would be impossible, his resolution was in order as it provided a means to continue negotiations between the council and commission.

Following defeat of his first motion, he moved the second one asking extension of contract for duration, on the same grounds as the first.

Mr. Rothwell said that the reason for the refusal to continue the contract with Newmarket under the present system was that Newmarket was getting its power at a price unfair to other municipalities which were members of the commission.

Father Of Newmarket Woman Dies In Listowel

Hugh Richmond, Listowel, father of Mrs. Phil. Hamilton, Newmarket, died at the Listowel Memorial hospital on Thursday morning after a short illness. Mr. Richmond was well known in Newmarket where he had visited his daughter.

Mr. Richmond was a son of the late George Richmond and Margaret Kennedy. He was born on the 12th concession of Elma on Sept. 25, 1864. His early life was spent in the township, where he took an active part in community life. He was a former superintendent of the Union church Sunday-school in Grey and was active in the life of the church. For many years he was a member of the Elma council and deputy-reeve. He was also a member of the cheese board.

He retired from farming in 1920 and took up residence in Atwood. In 1930 he moved to Listowel. Here his active interest in community life continued, and he also rendered a valuable service on the board of the Listowel United church.

Mr. Richmond was a staunch Conservative and was an active worker in the Conservative organization. For several years he was president of the Perth County Conservative Association.

In 1891 Mr. Richmond married Mary A. Gray, who predeceased him in 1934. Five daughters, four sons and two sisters survive.

Rev. G. W. Moore, pastor of Listowel United church, conducted a private funeral service at the late residence, followed by a public service in the church. Interment was in Elma Centre cemetery.

THINKS PROVERB WAS MEANT FOR CANADA

"Just a few lines in reply to your grand gift of 300 cigarets," Sgt. Howard Brown writes the Newmarket Veterans' Soldiers' Comforts fund. "There is nothing really I can say that the other boys haven't already said. The Canadians on this front are very determined to see this hell on earth through to the bitter end. We have had plenty of casualties but please don't get me wrong. They are not all Canadian or Allied forces and at times it takes a lot of convincing to show Jerry he is through.

"Thank God that this war has not come to the shores of our fair dominion because after seeing England, Scotland and Wales, North Africa and Italy, the old proverb of the land of milk and honey was meant for no other than good old Canada. The weather of late has been very damp and it only takes a shower here to make the mud stick and everything gets bogged down, then it becomes strictly an infantry war.

"These boys have had a hard go of it but when talking to them that is the only branch of the army to be with. I have seen quite a few of the boys from home and they are all in good spirits but think and talk about the day when they shall return. You all know the story about growing because you have been on these battlefields before us and now it is our turn to grow so.

"Well, in closing I thank you for the fags which is one comfort we get, along with our mail, which keeps our morale high and still believe that our fight is not in vain when we have people behind us like you to see us through."

"Just a few lines to let you know your gift of 300 cigarets arrived yesterday in the very best condition," Cfn. J. D. Cullen writes the Veterans. "As there was no card enclosed I'm sending you this airmail hoping it reaches you alright. Please give my sincerest thanks to the rest of the Newmarket Veterans for the great work they are doing for us boys.

"I see by the Newmarket paper, which I receive quite regularly, that there are quite a few of the home town boys over here in Italy but so far I haven't met any of them. We've had quite a bit of rain lately so it's pretty tough going at present. But we are hoping for some good old sunshine to come along and dry things up a little."

Cards of appreciation have been received by the Veterans from Lieut. D. A. Elines, Lieut. T. R. Hilliard and Pte. C. P. Gordon.

PUBLIC SCHOOL ATHLETES GET MEDALS, CUPS

The opening meeting of the Home and School association was held Tuesday evening at Stuart Scott school with the new president, Mrs. H. E. Gilroy, in the chair. The topic of the evening was the privileges and responsibilities of democracy.

Mrs. N. L. Mathews outlined the various forms of government, local, provincial and federal. She concluded her talk with the following: "Some authorities claim democracy begins with government, others say democracy begins with child training in the home. Instill in the child a strong desire for fair play, sportsmanship, co-operation in work and play, honesty, integrity, reliability, respect for God, man, and law and order. With the training, a fine cornerstone will be laid for the rising generation who must catch in time the torch we throw from faltering hands and hold it high for God, King and democracy."

Mrs. Bert Budd discussed the local aspects of government, telling about the choice and duties of a school trustee. Mrs. A. H. Woods spoke on the rights and privileges of citizenship and said that democracy should be kept alive at home while Canadians were fighting for it abroad.

Home and School Association medals were presented to the field day winners by Principal H. A. Jackson. Those receiving awards were Gloria Shropshire, Carol Ann Rae, tied for junior girls; Vern Hutchinson, Donald Jackson, tied for junior boys; Beverley Hall, intermediate girls; Jerry Hugo, intermediate boys; Mary Ellen MacInnis, senior girls and Bill Stewart, senior boys.

"My comrades, some of the finest, are fighting for you in Italy. Other boys are fighting for you in mud and water up to their necks in Belgium. Can't you do something to help them? The victory loan is at hand. Back your boys up by buying bonds."

These were the closing words of Pte. Bob McElroy, speaking at the Lions club meeting Monday night. Pte. McElroy told of his experiences on the fighting front in Italy.

"My story is a very simple one," he said. "I enlisted in 1942 and trained at Brantford, Camp Borden and Debert, N.S. For a short time, I was attached to a unit guarding the east coast. A year after enlisting I was sent overseas. I landed in Scotland and then spent two months at Aldershot.

"At Aldershot, I met many Newmarket boys including Ang West, Jack Hamilton, Wes Niles and many others. From Aldershot, I was sent to North Africa where for two months, I practised mountain climbing. I spent Christmas in North Africa and three days later, embarked for Naples. I trained for a week near Mount Vesuvius and in the middle of January, joined the Irish Regiment of Canada, one of the best.

"We went into action near Ortona and it was in this fighting that my best friend, Jack Revill, paid the supreme sacrifice. We fought on the line for a week and then would be pulled out for a rest. Then, back to the fighting again.

"We could smell something big in the wind and soon, our regiment was sent to west Italy where we took part in the fighting around Cassino and Monastery hill. When we were pulled out for a rest, the Poles and Fighting French went into action and broke through the Gustav line and fought through to the Hitler line.

"Then the English went into action and shortly after, men of the Canadian First Division. Jerry was on the run and we went after him. We travelled every way we could, on jeeps, and carriers and riding tanks, anything to keep Jerry moving.

"We were stopped by a river but the Westminster regiment from British Columbia established a crossing and the Irish regiment pushed ahead. It was then that I was hit by a German 88 mm fire. I lay on the field for a while until picked up by stretcher bearers and rushed to 14th Canadian General hospital.

"My hip was pretty badly shattered and for a time, both legs were paralysed as infection set in. What saved me was penicillin. They used $4,000 worth of the drug on me and would have used $100,000 worth if they had had to. I was in the hospital four weeks and then shipped to Liverpool and from there to the 23rd Canadian General hospital near London. I can't say enough for the doctors and nurses and orderlies who attended us. They were wonderful.

"While in the hospital, the robot bombs started coming over. We called them doodle bugs. The sirens were going all day. I had the chance of going into London and seeing the damage done by the bombs. The English are greater than great. They have stood up to everything. They are all in there pitching.

"It kind of burns me up to come home to Canada and hear someone beefing about shortages of tires and gas and rationing. In London, I knew of a war worker who came home from the factory and found his home gone and his family killed by a bomb. I knew of children playing in a school yard which was hit by a bomb. The bodies of some were never found. I saw an old woman carrying one end of a stretcher. On the stretcher was her daughter. She was dead. And beside her was her granddaughter, she was dead too. We asked her if we could help and she said yes because she had to go and see how the neighbors were. There wasn't a tear in her eye.

"My comrades are still over there. Fighting in mud and blood, fighting to live, fighting until they don't know what they are doing they are so tired. All you at home are asked to do is to buy bonds."

MEETING IS TONIGHT

The Newmarket Veterans' Association will hold its monthly meeting in the council chambers this evening at 8 o'clock.

LOAN SCORE WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Newmarket, $55,800, objective, $350,000

District, $323,300, objective, $2,400,000

Cost Of War Increases Loan Speaker Declares

Total cost of the Great War was $1,700,000,000; cost of this war to March 31 is $13,000,000,000; of a budget of $6,000,000,000, for this year, $5,200,000,000 is set aside for war purposes; an ambulance costs $3,500; an armored car costs $7,000; a Ram tank costs $75,000; a four-engined bomber costs $350,000.

The above figures were given to the Lions club by Joseph Bullen, special speaker for the Victory Loan committee, on Monday night. Mr. Bullen stressed that this war is a war of movement, a mechanized war. He said that the men were better cared for. He said that more munitions were used, more ships built, more guns made. For that reason, this war is a more expensive war than the last, he declared.

"We've no right to live in Canada and expect men to give their lives for us without doing anything to help them. This war is bound to be victorious if we get behind our boys overseas and back them up with bonds," Col. Sidney Lambert, padre of Christie Street hospital, told the North York Victory loan rally at Pickering College Friday night.

The rally was sponsored by Aubrey Davis, chairman of the North York victory loan committee, and was attended by bond salesmen and representatives of all districts in the North York loan division.

Col. Lambert described some of the sights he has witnessd at Christie Street and of the faith the wounded men had in their country. "We will not let them down," he declared. "They have put a down payment on victory with their limbs and their lives. All that we at home are asked to do is to buy bonds. It is much easier to buy bonds than to buy victory with blood as the boys overseas are doing."

Col. Lambert was introduced by Rev. Henry Cotton who opened his remarks with the prayer of Field Marshall Bernard Law Montgomery to his men on the battlefield. "Oh Lord God, when Thou givest to Thy servants to endeavor in any great matter, grant us also to know that it is not the beginning but the continuing the same that yieldeth the true glory." Mr. Cotton recommended the prayer to those on the home front and particularly those in the Seventh Victory loan campaign.

"We dare not let our men down. We dare not slacken our efforts. The German is tough but our men are tougher. It is the least we can do to back our boys up with our bonds," he said.

Mr. Davis, in thanking Joseph McCulley, headmaster of Pickering College, for the use of the college dining room, said that it was the largest attendance he has yet seen at such a rally. "It augurs well for the loan," he said.

County Education Body Has School Board Forum

Newmarket was represented by Deputy-Reeve Arthur D. Evans, A. N. Belugin and R. L. Boag of the Newmarket high school board, at a meeting last night in Toronto of the York county education committee.

The meeting was called to enable county representatives of local boards to discuss problems in common, and hear how they are dealt with by other boards.

This was the first such meeting to be held since 1936. It was attended by 37 representatives. The county warden suggested that county representatives organize an association of county representatives to meet once a year and exchange views. Dr. G. W. Williams of Aurora was named chairman of the association.

The foremost topics of discussion by the local board representatives were the financial standings of the boards, and methods used to raise funds for various purposes, Mr. Belugin said.

They also exchanged views on the extension of vocational departments in high schools, and the addition of recreational and athletic centres as a means of combating juvenile delinquency.

'Boys Won't Stop Till Jerry In Own Backyard'

"I am taking a few minutes out to write to you, and let you know that I have received the cigarets that you so kindly sent me and for which I thank you very much," Gnr. L. F. Brown writes in a letter of appreciation to the Mount Albert Veterans' Association. "I do so appreciate your kindness and I must say that they certainly came in at a very opportune time, as I had only been back from France for a short while and I didn't have any cigarets at all. It sure was swell to get some at that special time.

"Well, everything has been going along pretty well lately. It certainly has been nice to be back in England again after being over in France. It seemed so quiet and peaceful and so far away from the noise and banging of the shells. I guess you can understand just about how I felt, as no doubt you must have had the same feeling in the last war.

"The boys are certainly doing a good job over the other side, aren't they? It looks as though it may not be so very much longer now. I sure wish that it would soon end as it has certainly been going on long enough.

"Anyway, the Jerries are sure getting paid back in their own coin and I don't think that our boys will want to stop now until they get them bottled up in their own backyard, and they sure are on the way to doing that.

"I am feeling fairly good now. I have got over the effects of the wound that I received over in France, although I still get some great headaches and my eyes bother me quite a bit, but I guess that they will clear up some time. I am just waiting to be sent back again now. I don't know how long it will be before they will send me."

The Mount Albert Veterans have also received a card from Gnr. H. G. Harrison, in which he expressed his appreciation for a gift of cigarets.

Plan Musical Program For Nazarene Church

By J. WILLIAMS

A near capacity audience was on hand Sunday evening at the First Church of the Nazarene to hear the final message of the visiting evangelist, Rev. T. T. Liddell, Chicago. The service ended a two weeks' series of a most successful evangelistic campaign.

preceding the address, a splendid song service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. L. E. Sparks, which included both vocal and instrumental duets rendered by the pastor and Roy Langford.

During the service Rev. L. E. Sparks addressed warm words of thanks to the evangelist for his inspiring ministry and Christian fellowship. Mr. Liddell responded with equal warmth and sincere words.

Before the final message was given, the audience, while singing God Be With You Till We Meet Again, was given the opportunity of shaking hands with the speaker. A love offering was given to the evangelist by members of the church and friends.

An important announcement was made by the pastor relative to the activities of the local church. In addition to the Women's Foreign Missionary Society and the Young Women's Foreign Missionary chapter now in operation, a teen-age chapter, under the direction of Mrs. H. Wrightman is being organized.

The musical part of the church program is to be augmented by an instrumental brass ensemble, also a church choir. Both of these organizations are under the direction of Roy Langford. It is also expected to have J. Black, former director of music of the St. Clair Church of the Nazarene, Toronto, as song director of the local church.

The final message of the evangelist was based on the words, "The Master is come and calleth for three," St. John's Gospel, chapt. 11, verse 28. The speaker went on to say most people appreciate the "Master Hands" which are operating in every sphere of life and are most important and fill an important place in life, but are limited. But the Master Hands of Christ can solve all man's problems. In an address, lasting nearly an hour, the speaker was given rapt attention. The response to his appeals by the congregation was most encouraging. The evangelist left on the early train Monday morning for Windsor, Ont., where he is conducting his next campaign.

WORLD SECURITY

The citizens of a democratic nation have been accustomed to abhor the use of force as a means to settle a dispute or to accomplish something contrary to the wishes of others.

Yet at the present time, the citizens of the democracies are concentrating the greatest display of force the world has ever known against their enemies. How do the citizens of a democracy reconcile this difference between belief and practice?

The answer is, we believe, that the citizens of the democracies are learning that the error is not in the use of force but in how it is used. There is a right way and a wrong way to the application of force.

When a policeman uses force against a lawbreaker in preventing the lawbreaker from his acts, it is treated as a proper use of force. No different is the use of force against Germany or any other nation which seeks to impose its will on other nations. The use of force is the only way that the lawbreaker and the outlaw nation can be prevented from accomplishing their purpose, once dissuasion through education, or arbitration, has failed.

The laws of a community are without meaning unless they can be enforced. The laws of world security are equally without meaning unless they can be enforced. In the final analysis, the readiness to apply force is a necessary part of maintaining world security. The decisions of the Dunbarton Oaks Conference showed an awareness of this fact. That those decisions have been so little criticized by the citizens of the democracies, augurs well for future security.

What Others Think

AVOID BUYERS' STRIKE

(The Amherstburg Echo)

Many theorists have argued that the depression arose from the fact that there was not enough money in circulation, and that the purchasing power of the people was too low.

It is perfectly true that the purchasing power of the people fell rapidly, as fast as employment fell off, and the national income shrank, but it seems very doubtful whether the depression started in this way. The day before the depression began everyone was employed, and it looks as though the lack of purchasing power which made the depression so severe was a secondary cause, not a first reason.

The war moves rapidly enough for us to say safely that it will not be long before the government ceases to buy war supplies on the present scale. This means that, if we are to avoid unemployment, it will be because private purchasers move in to occupy this vacancy.

It might be instructive now to go back and think of what happened before the depression. What seems to have occurred was that two factors loomed into the picture. One was a general condition of alarm, produced by the crash of the New York Stock Exchange. The other, which was probably more important, was the fact that, for one reason or another, customers stopped buying.

Certainly the most important factor in bringing about the decision of anyone to buy is the price of the goods. If the public do not find the goods available which they want, at prices which they can pay, they will not buy.

Not all the socialist political talk, nor all the distribution of charity to the poor will change this situation. If the people of Canada find the goods in the stores which they want, at prices which they are prepared to pay, we shall have prosperity. If not, we shall have hard times.

We recommend that to manufacturers and to their workers, to merchants and to the public. A buyers' strike after the war would bring about depression very quickly.

CANADA'S VETERANS

Their Post-War Opportunities

This is the Fourth in a series of advertisements to inform the people of Canada of plans to re-establish men and women of the armed forces. To get full details, save and read every advertisement.

For complete information, write for the booklet, "Back to Civil Life."

Home and Farm Ownership — The Man Who Wants His Own Business

There are two ways in which Canada's service people can have homes of their own. One measure, the Veterans' Land Act, provides assistance in financing homes on small acreages of land outside the high taxation area, while the re-establishment credit may be used for purchase or building of a home in town or city. Low cost financing is available under the National Housing Act. Under the Veterans' Land Act, assistance is given in financing up to a maximum of $4800 for land and buildings. The veteran must be prepared to pay down 10 per cent of the cost of land and buildings and the property is then sold to him for this down payment plus two-thirds of the cost. This balance may be financed, if necessary, over 25 years, with interest at 3½ per cent. A further grant may be made for purchase of equipment.

The veteran is given title to the property, including the grant of 23⅓ per cent of the cost of land and buildings and the money for equipment, after he has lived up to his agreement for ten years.

If the re-establishment credit is used for a home, the veteran must be prepared to put up one dollar for every two dollars used from it. This type of assistance may be applied for at any time within 10 years of discharge.

FARMERS AND COMMERCIAL FISHERMEN

Veterans qualified for full time farming and for commercial fishing may receive assistance in purchasing a farm or home under the Veterans' Land Act in the same way as the veteran wanting a home on a small acreage, outside the high taxation area. In the case of full time farming, an additional grant of $1200 is available for purchase of stock and equipment, and in commercial fishing the commercial fisherman may receive up to $1200 to buy needed fishing equipment. To benefit under any of the three provisions of the Veterans' Land Act, the ex-service man or woman must have overseas service or at least 12 months' service in Canada.

TO ASSIST BUSINESSMEN

One purpose for which the re-establishment credit may be used is to buy a business or to provide working capital for a business. Here again application may be made at any time in the 10 years after discharge.

In addition to using the re-establishment credit in this way, people who start their own businesses, or farmers, may draw maintenance grants, during the period they are awaiting returns from the business or the farm. These grants may be paid in the first 18 months after discharge, for the period of service, and up to a maximum of one year.

VETERANS' WELFARE OFFICERS ARE STATIONED IN KEY CENTRES THROUGHOUT CANADA. THEY ADVISE AND ASSIST EX-SERVICE PERSONNEL, AND SHOULD BE CONSULTED ON ALL PROBLEMS.

Eggs were 62 cents to 65 cents a dozen, butter 55 to 60 cents a pound, dressed chickens 30 to 35 cents a pound, dressed ducks 30 cents a pound, apples $7 a barrel and 30, 50 and 65 cents a basket, potatoes $2 a bag, onions 50 cents a basket. Walter M. Collins returned from Orchard Beach on Saturday, Oct. 11. He brought with him a box of beautiful raspberries which he had picked that day, together with a number of branches bearing fruit. Such a demonstration of the effect of the fine weather on vegetable life shows the wonderful possibilities of our climate.

There was a big market again last Saturday, particularly in butter. Consequently, there was a drop in price. Crock butter sold at 16 cents and 17 cents, roll butter at 18 cents and 19 cents. Pound rolls sold for 20 cents and the highest price paid was 21 cents. Eggs were firm at 15 and 16 cents. Potatoes sold from 40 cents to 50 cents a bag. Ducks were 50 cents per pair, geese six cents per pound, turkeys nine cents per pound and chickens 40 and 45 cents per pair. There was also a large quantity of fine lamb. A new buyer from Toronto was here last Saturday and found such a splendid market that he intends coming regularly.

There was quite a move in horseflesh in town last Saturday. I. Silver succeeded in purchasing seven animals, the highest price being between $60 and $70.

Compulsory voting has been more or less discussed in this country, both at the stump and through the press, but neither of the two leading political parties have seen the way clear to make the question a plank in their platform. Germany has adopted it, however, and the general election held recently in that country took place under its operation. It is now stated that this new law worked well and deprived party "heelers" of the opportunity of bribing electors "not to vote."

SEEK PROSPECT

Newmarket council authorized Councillor Jos. Vale to phone to Canton, Ohio, where a firm was reported to be seeking a suitable site for a plant in Ontario.

Councillor Vale proposed that they should sound out the firm on Newmarket as a site for their plant.

THE COMMON ROUND

By Isabel Inglis Colville

CAT TALES

In these days when the child, instead of being put into a cast iron educational mould to emerge with exactly the education of every other child, is helped in some degree to educate himself in the particular line for which he yearns, it seems to me that my cats are becoming I.Q. minded also.

We used to think that all cats behaved pretty much the same, in fact, we rather prided ourselves in understanding them, now we are beginning to think we know absolutely nothing about their inner lives.

Wooly is a courteous, rather reserved, grey cat who shows no affection for humans, except toward me, and that rarely. In fact, I sit with bated breath—whatever that is—when she condescends to sit on my lap and sing softly to herself. I usually find that there is a certain amount of self-interest in these rare demonstrations—she either has acquired a nest of burrs in her tail or feels the need for a good brushing.

But Wooly, in relation to her family, is quite another cat and their education has brought a wrinkle to her brow and an anxious light to her pale green eyes.

She, without benefit of psychiatric training, has used entirely different methods of bringing up her young and I must say they do her credit.

Candy, her eldest son, is now a year and a half old, weighs over twenty pounds and is, I think, the most magnificent cat I ever saw—and he knows it!

To see him sit upright on his favorite stool, with every black marking showing in his silver-grey coat, is to see something very lovely. But I'm afraid he loves night life. In the mornings he comes to the door, lifts his voice in a peculiar, long-drawn call and, being admitted, speaks politely and then sits down by his plate and expects his breakfast. This over, he gets on mother's knee, offers his paw, expects to have his ears rubbed, bunts her on the chin then, very stately and looking neither to right nor left but muttering under his breath when Churchill tries to pull his tail, he mounts the stairs, goes to his chair and, until twilight falls, Candy is as if he were not, but as the shadows of night fall, down he comes, rubs noses with Wooly, snarls at Tiger, eats a large meal and, going to the door, looks north, looks south, east and west and if he doesn't see his enemy, Timmy, he departs in peace for wherever he goes. If Timmy is around he curls himself into a ball and just waits while Timmy, using language unbecoming to a respectable cat, says his say, in no uncertain terms, after which each cat walks off in his own manner—Candy very slow and stately, Timmy with many a backward glance and muttered anathema.

Meanwhile Wooly, who has watched this scene with motherly interest but hasn't seen fit to intervene as she would have done had blows been exchanged, comes back and goes into a huddle with Tiger and I know what they are planning—the education of Churchill, Muff and Puff.

In a few minutes I see Wooly leading a procession out of the back door; Puff, who is always first, yelling at the top of a very tinny also tiny voice, then Muff, who is a sedate, sweet kit, and lastly Churchill, who moves in a rather absent-minded way as if his mind were on other problems. However, his progress is assisted by Tiger, who administers corporal punishment from the rear.

Then Wooly stops and I see with dismay what's in her mind. A wide board is leaning against the shed roof and at some signal from Wooly up goes Tiger and after him Puff, shrieking with fear but bound to go, next Muff and lastly Churchill. At this point I retire, having no wish to see them fall to their death.

I go on with my work in an absent-minded manner, putting pepper in a pudding and throwing away the white of egg I had saved for a meringue and causing my parent to ask if I were worried about something.

Just at this point a series of unearthly shrieks gives weird emphasis to my fears and as the telephone rings the same moment I run toward the door and then toward the telephone. "Are you crazy?" demanded mother. "Not yet but I will be," I assured her as I picked up the phone to hear someone say, "Is this Blanks?" "No, it's cats," said I and flew, hearing between the unearthly yowls mother's very frank comments on my behavior.

Getting outside, there was Wooly sitting at the foot of the board crying in a shrill voice to her offspring who sat in a row on the roof and peered down at her with small whiskered faces, while they piped out their fears, unheeding Tiger who did a highland fling behind them.

"Well," said I to Wooly, "here's a pretty state of things. YOU made them go up, it's up to you to get them down." With a scornful look at me, a mere human daring to interfere with lessons, she raised her voice commandingly and Churchill, with a disdainful glance at the two non-Persian brothers, slid, scratched, clawed and roared his way to the ground.

I always swear that Tiger pushed the other two off; anyway down they came and with tails erect departed for a sleep.

Muff and Puff departed recently to their new home at Star Elms and the other morning, looking out, I saw a cute sight. Down the road came Mrs. Starr and behind her trotted the two kits for a morning visit.

Churchill went to his new home but during Dora's illness he is back, receiving a post graduate course in cat manners from his mother and Tiger who received him with open arms.

His toilet is a matter of great concern to his mother and Tiger. They lick him the wrong way till his fur stands up in little tags all over his back, but he seems to like it.

Last night Tiger and Churchill came in together but the moment Tiger got him inside he flew off. Evidentally he was left in charge and decided he'd had enough of it—it was our turn!

So we watch and study and have fun with them and some day I'd like to write a book about them.

How soon . . .

AFTER five years of war, with final Victory assured, there is the possibility that we become complacent to the danger and hardships others are enduring for our sakes.

Our leaders have told us Victory can be hastened—if EVERYONE on the home front does his or her full duty. Every bond we buy is an aid to Victory that will help hurry home our loved ones. Our duty is to invest in Victory Bonds.

TO OUR DEPOSITORS—To conserve paper, we are taking this means of communicating with you rather than writing to you personally as in the past. We recommend—indeed we urge you to invest in Victory Bonds to the limit of your ability. They are readily convertible into CASH in case of need, and are acceptable as security for bank loans without delay. In the event you desire to purchase more than you can pay for immediately, we will gladly lend you the money needed for six months at the same rate of interest as is earned by the bonds. Victory Bonds pay a good rate of interest and are Canada's highest grade investment.

GERMAN FAGS NOT SO GOOD, SAYS SOLDIER

"Just a line to let you know I received your gift of cigarets a couple of days ago and was sure glad to have them," Sgmn. Lester Woolven writes from Belgium in a letter of appreciation to the Newmarket Veterans' Soldiers' Comforts fund. "We sometimes get an issue of cigarets over here, but they are always Limey, and being a Canadian, I like our own cigarets best.

"On several occasions I have smoked German cigarets, which we have taken from captured vehicles. They are terrible, in fact are worse than the ones we used to make out of dried punk and newspaper when we were kids.

"We have been getting lots of rain lately, but I guess that is common for this part of Europe. I have visited several of the battlefields that you fellows probably fought on in the last war. I would like to have been near Vimy Ridge to see the war memorial but just wasn't lucky enough. Maybe I will get the chance before this war is over, although it will have to be soon as I don't think Jerry can stand the beating he is getting much longer.

"The way the Belgians have treated us makes a fellow proud that he is in the forces. We have been treated like kings wherever we have gone over here.

"The Canadians can be pretty proud of some of their regiments, especially the ones that fought in Dieppe in 1942. The same regiments came and took the town with ease."

"Received your cigarets yesterday," Cfn. C. W. Flintoff writes the Veterans. "One lot had gone to France to my old unit and the other came direct. I have just finished reading the Newmarket paper. It is the only way to find out where all the boys are. There are quite a lot of them in England, Italy and France."

Newmarket Boys Visit Ang. West In Scotland

"Your most welcome cigarets were waiting for me last week when I returned from leave," Lieut. Ted Hewson writes in a letter of appreciation to the Newmarket Veterans' Soldiers' Comforts Fund. "Your smokes are the first I've had since early in July and most of the fellows with me have been in the same fix so you can imagine how welcome they are. It is also great to have such a connection with the old town for the Era has not yet started to catch up to me.

"Since it appears likely that my stay over here will be rather brief, I am trying to see as much of the country as possible. For a while I didn't do badly but these last few weeks the army has suddenly 'got crackin' ' and they've kept me rather busy so my bike is rusting away in the coal bin.

"However, I saw quite a bit on my last leave, chiefly of Scotland. Luckily Bill Janes got a leave at the same time so we had quite a time up there. One evening we spent in Glasgow with Ang. West. I also spent a couple of days with my sister.

"We Hewsons were rather lucky because Geale got a leave from France and Buzz and I each got a weekend so we had a day in London together before he went back. He had a lot of stories to tell about the Caen corner where he was at that time.

"As yet I've not met any other fellows from Newmarket except Jack Arlitt whose band was at the dock when we arrived. They were there for an air force draft and Ron Perry (of the college) was o.c. of part of it.

"Thanks again for the smokes. I'll be back before long to thank you in person, I expect."

Memorial Well Kept, Newmarket Boy Thinks

"Just a few lines to thank you for the 300 cigarets which I received a few days ago," Pte. W. G. Shropshire writes from Belgium in a letter of appreciation to the Newmarket Veterans' Soldiers' Comforts fund. "The town paper reaches me quite regularly and I find the letters from the boys here in Belgium and France and Italy to you fellows full of interest. It's really a great way to keep tab on the boys when there isn't time to write to them. They all seem to agree that you are doing a grand job.

"I was lucky enough to be able to see the Canadian war memorial in Ypres a short while ago. It really was an impressive sight to myself and the chaps that were with me. The grounds adjacent to the memorial have been really well kept throughout Jerry's stay in the country. In the city proper I saw the new Cloth Hall and part of the ruins of the old one. It was a really interesting afternoon and I am just waiting an opportunity to see some of the other historical spots here."

"We servicemen over here think it is wonderful the way so many Veterans of the last war are helping us by their gifts and thoughtfulness," Cfn. John E. Williams writes the Veterans.

"Many thanks for your 300 cigarets that I received from you today," writes Cpl. Jack Williams to the Veterans. "Actually it was the 1,200th cigaret that I've got from you since I landed in France. We boys can't thank you too much. Your parcels always turn up when we need them most. You're doing a grand job and I hope to be able to thank you personally in the near future."

"So sorry for not writing before and thanking you and your Soldiers' Comforts fund for the cigarets, but, as you can see, my address has been changed and I have been on the move for the past week," Cfn. R. E. K. Miller writes the Veterans. "You will never know how much pleasure the Soldiers' Comfort has given to us fellows over here. I have been talking to a couple of fellows from town who have received cigarets from you and they feel the same. We just can't get a smoke from the English tobacco.

"Well, how is everything going in the shop, Alex? How I wish I was behind those shears talling for you now. Although I am working in a machine shop here it doesn't seem the same. They have lowered my category and won't let me go to France with the rest of the boys but we all feel the same that it won't be long before we are all home again."

BOYS HAVE HAD LONG TRAMP SINCE D-DAY

"Thanks again for the smokes I received last night, this time in Belgium," writes Sgt. Grant Crowder in a letter of appreciation to the Newmarket Veterans' Soldiers' Comforts fund. "They, like your hospitality to the many Newmarket fellows, go a long way and we all deeply appreciate it.

"We have covered much ground since I last wrote and have had some pleasant experiences in our tramp. Some of the places, no doubt, are towns that you yourself spent time in during the last war. Canadians are really making a name for themselves too, and doing their part well enough for all the many friends at home to be proud of their effort.

"Hoping to have this strife ended soon so we may be back to offer our thanks in person."

"Your second parcel of smokes caught up with me yesterday," writes Lieut. Ted Hewson to the Veterans. "Smokes are the thing I miss most over here, although I wouldn't mind a real steak dinner once in a while!"

"I have just come out of hospital and was smoking my last package of cigarets, so you see your parcel couldn't have come at a better time," Tpr. Art Lee writes the Veterans from Italy.

Cards of appreciation have been received by the Veterans from Gnr. A. W. Cryderman, Pte. J. A. Cullen and Sgt. E. J. Burke.

News Is Good, Boys Hope To Be Home Soon

"I received the fourth lot of cigarets from the Newmarket Veterans the other day and really appreciated them," Cpl. Jack Arlitt writes in a letter of appreciation to the Newmarket Veterans' Soldiers' Comforts fund. "I wasn't out of cigarets myself but some of the other chaps were and they helped out a lot.

"The news sounds very good so hope in the near future we'll be able to come home and personally thank all our friends for being so kind to us while we were so far away. I know all the boys are thankful for the work the Veterans are doing.

"We have been getting some good experience while over here, especially in the line of music. We have been to London several times, making records at the B.B.C. which were very interesting experiences."

THINKS COBBLESTONES WERE THERE IN 1918

"This is just a short note to thank you veterans for your most welcome parcel of cigarets which I received Sunday, the 17th (September)," Cpl. Ivan Moulds writes the Newmarket Veterans' Soldiers' Comforts fund. "They were certainly just in time as usual. I don't know how you manage to hit it just right every time but somehow or other you always do. You must have a large number to send to now. I guess the old town looks pretty dead.

"Well, I guess you noticed by the heading that I'm writing this from France. I suppose it is much the same here as it was when you left it. They still use two-wheeled carts and donkeys, mules and jackasses or what have you. There doesn't seem to be many horses here. I've seen a few but most of them were pretty old.

"Of course, the streets are still made of cobblestones. I'll bet you that they are the same ones that were here last war. I haven't been able to get around much yet but I hope to get a look at the Vimy Ridge Memorial. That is one thing that I really want to see. I understand that it hasn't been damaged except that one hand on one of the figures at the top of the twin shafts has been knocked off. Apparently there is no other damage except for a few scratches. It certainly is a wonderful thing that it hasn't been damaged any more than that.

I haven't seen anyone from town since I left Cpl. Carter. I understand that he has moved from there now. That was Feb. 1. I don't know how it happens but I always seem to get in all the out of the way places. Maybe I'm lucky at that. I've often wondered if there was any more news of Jack Luck. You know we were planning to go on leave together when fate took a hand. We were to meet at or around the last of February or the first of March. It sure was a tough break and I hope that he will turn up o.k.

"Mother has kept me pretty well posted on the news of the boys from town and I was sorry to hear that so many of them have been catching it in the neck. It seems so senseless and useless but what must be done must be done regardless of the cost."

A card of appreciation has been received by the Veterans from Cpl. Alfred Ainsworth.

Right Words, Wrong Place

Mrs. Dimmwitt—And how did the wedding come off?

Mrs. Stubblefield—Fine, until the minister asked the bride if she would obey her husband.

Mrs. Dimmwitt—What happened then?

Mrs. Stubblefield—Plenty. The bride replied, "Do you think I'm crazy?" and the groom, who was in a sort of daze, answered, "I do."

"HARD NUT TO CRACK BUT IT WILL BE DONE"

"Once again I am writing to thank you for another welcome gift of cigarets which arrived yesterday," L.-Cpl. M. E. Haines writes the Newmarket Veterans' Soldiers' Comforts fund. "I have never been out of fags since coming to France and thanks to you my supply is good once again. I do appreciate your thoughtfulness and all I can say at present is thanks a million.

"As you can see by the news, things are moving very fast over here and we are constantly on the move. At present my regiment is engaged in cleaning out the last resistance in north-western France and by the time this reaches you that will be accomplished and we will go on to other fields of battle.

"This is proving to be a hard nut to crack but it will be done and very soon. Occasionally we are startled by shells from the huge coastal guns coming this way and although none of them have hit real close the blast is enough to make one think of diving for cover without an invitation.

"We have passed through places that some of you will remember from the last war, Abbeville, Arras, etc., and it may interest you to know that I was the first one in this regiment to cross the Seine and Somme rivers, nothing to brag about of course because it was as safe as crossing the old canal in Newmarket."

"I received the carton of 300 cigarets today and sure was glad to get them," L.-Cpl. G. W. Graves writes the Veterans. "Cigarets are sure appreciated very much over here, now more so than before as they are fairly hard to get. And, of course, you can't beat a Canadian cigaret. I am getting along fine, improving so fast I will be back in action again before long."

"Just a few lines expressing my sincere and many, many thanks for your cigarets which arrived a few days ago," Pte. Verno Mosier writes the Veterans. "I really do not know just how to express my thanks in words by letter. I do know though you will understand.

"There is not much to tell you except that the job we left home to do is well underway. You know yourself from the last conflict that rats when about to be pounced upon will make for their holes in the ground. They will try to but they will not make it."

"Thank you all very much for the two lots of cigarets which came from the Veterans almost at the same time," Pte. J. H. Lister writes the Veterans. "It is nice to have a variety and I certainly appreciate them. Let's hope that before they are finished this business will be finished too—this stage of it at least. We have been having fine weather right along and at present having what is almost an Indian summer."

WOUNDED BOYS NEVER WHIMPER — SOLDIER

"Once again I wish to thank you and the members of the Veterans' Association of Newmarket for their gifts of cigarets," Q.M.S. J. R. Eustace writes to the Newmarket Veterans' Soldiers' Comforts fund. "The arrival of cigarets is indeed to all of us over here a morale-builder of the first water. It shows the boys that the folks back home are pulling their weight too.

"It is a year today since my arrival in England and I am on my seventh week here in Normandy. When we first landed here we were well within the sound of the guns up front. But now everything is peaceful and if it was not for the roar of the planes going back and forth one would think the war was over.

"The boys up front have moved so fast they have left us miles behind. But don't worry, we will be catching up with them soon again.

"The highlight of our work here is the system of transporting the wounded back. This air transport is really something. What would take perhaps long hours of travel by rail and road only takes a matter of minutes by air. And if a man is found to be in really bad shape he is immediately put on another plane and transported straight to Blighty.

"The weather here is quite cold at nights and we have had our share of rain. But the old tent is dry and that's something. Have been receiving the Newmarket Era regularly. And I really enjoy reading it. Especially the column "No. 23 this week." I see the camp is still going strong. I would like you to let me know who is responsible for the paper being sent as I would like to thank them.

"I must say that the boys we get back from the front are really swell. All are happy in the knowledge that the great German is beat and that it won't be long now. There is never a whimper from any of them, no matter how bad they have been hit, whereas the Jerry, of which we get our share, the least Jar and he is complaining.

"I share my Era with a boy from Aurora. He is tickled pink as it keeps him posted on things from his home town. Well, thanks again, and let's hope it won't be long before I am back again. I can tell you one thing, the people of England are happy today. The blackouts are down and the lights are on again. I have two sisters over in England and previous to coming overseas had not seen them since 1913, which is quite a while."

JEAN CULLEN IS ILL

Jean Cullen underwent an appendix operation at York County hospital on Saturday morning. She is progressing favorably.

In Memoriam

Alderson—In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Thomas Alderson, who passed away Oct. 25, 1940.
Peaceful be they rest dear father,
It is sweet to breathe thy name
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same.
Sadly missed by Alma, Gar and Donnie.

Fountain—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Ella May Fountain, who passed away suddenly on Oct. 27, 1943.
Loving and kind in all her ways,
Upright and just to the end of her days,
Sincere and true in her heart and mind,
Beautiful memories she left behind.
Ever remembered by her husband and children, Ethel, Vera, Ross and James, in action in Italy.

Fountain—In loving memory of a dear grandmother, Ella May Fountain, who passed away Oct. 27, 1943.
You oft said we would miss you,
Those words have proved too true.
We lost our best, our dearest friend
Dear Gran, when we lost you.
Ever remembered by grandchildren, Doris, Verne and Lowell.

O'Brien—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, John H. O'Brien, who passed away October 25, 1937.
"Gone but not forgotten,"
And as dawns another year
We are lonely thinking of you,
But you always will be near.
Ever remembered by wife and family.

Smith—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. Parker Smith, who died Oct. 27, 1941.
"Thy will be done" seems hard to say,
When one we loved has passed away.
Some day, perhaps we'll understand,
When we meet again in that better land.
Ever remembered by husband and family.

Allen Simpson Mentioned For Heroic Work In Italy

Cpl. Allen Simpson, Aurora, has been mentioned in a dispatch from overseas for his heroic work with a group of Canadian miners in Italy. Cpl. Simpson and his companions were responsible for clearing huge gaps in the Gothic line and they are now assisting in opening up roads through the rugged Appenines, north of Florence.

The retreating Germans have filled in tunnels and closed gaps, which means long hard work for the hardrock crew. Cpl. Simpson, who is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Simpson, Tyler St., enlisted in 1939, going overseas in January, 1940. Last July he celebrated his fifth overseas birthday.

Another corporal from the Aurora district, Robert Collins, Gormley, has been mentioned in news reports from Antwerp. Cpl. Collins, who is with an infantry unit, is one of the leaders of the small parties who are carrying the brunt of the attack in the Scheldt pocket because the terrain and weather have made large scale operations impossible.

This particular sector is called "The corporals' war" because all the advance is being made by single sections under the command of corporals and high ranking officers have paid tribute to their resourcefulness and ability. Cpl. Collins has been overseas two years.

John Perry Second A.H.S. Grad To Receive D.F.C.

Flt.-Lieut. John Perry, R.C.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Perry, Woodbridge, former Schomberg residents, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Flt.-Lieut. Perry was born five miles south of Schomberg and received his education at Schomberg public and continuation schools and Aurora high school. He was prominent in track and field, hockey and other school activities.

Before enlisting in 1941, Flt.-Lieut. Perry was employed at Woodbridge. He trained at Camp Borden, Oshawa and Hagersville and received his wings in 1941.

Before going overseas in 1942, Flt.-Lieut. Perry was an instructor at Jarvis. He is 23 years old. A brother, William, is with the 1st Hussars overseas. He has two sisters.

Flt.-Lieut. Perry is the second graduate of Aurora high school to be decorated during the present war. The first was the late Lloyd V. Chadburn, who at the time of his death had received more decorations than any other Canadian flier.

Attitude To Returned Men Important, Speaker Says

The Lions club held its regular dinner meeting at the Masonic hall on Tuesday evening. The Lions approved of the new meeting place and praised the meal served by the Presbyterian ladies.

The meeting was one of the best that the club has had and the speaker, Lion Dr. Kenneth H. Rogers, district governor of district A3, gave an address that was entertaining and enlightening. Two of the highlights of his address were juvenile delinquency, on which he gave some rather startling and shocking information, and our attitude toward our returned men.

He put the responsibility for the elimination, or at least the lessening of juvenile delinquency, with the home, the community and the school. He said that the successful rehabilitation of our fighting men on their return would depend on our attitude toward them, our patience, understanding and encouragement, during their transition from a life of thrills and danger to the quiet and less exciting life of a civilian.

Lions clubs should and would have a definite interest and take a leading part in both of these postwar problems, Dr. Rogers said.

Red Cross Ladies Pack Over 200 Overseas Boxes

Over 200 boxes are being forwarded to boys overseas this month by the Aurora Red Cross ladies, who have worked nearly every night the past two weeks to get the boxes ready. Each box weighs five pounds and including postage costs the ladies around $4.

Included in the boxes are 16 items, tinned cooked meat, gum, soup, oxo, cheese, envelopes, writing paper, razor blades, toothpaste, shaving cream, soap, socks, chocolate bars, chocolate powder and cigarets.

Around $300 has been donated, including a contribution of tinned meat by a packing concern, the treasurer, Mrs. J. F. Willis, reports. Officials of the organization are still receiving contributions. The amounts received have been widespread but still fall far short of the cost involved.

AURORA W.I. MEETS

The Aurora Women's Institute met this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Walter Dunning. The hostesses were Mrs. Dunning and Mrs. E. H. Clarke. Roll-call was "Something, I am thankful for." Mrs. Roy Fierheller and Miss Lorraine Fierheller sang a duet. Mrs. John Kleos was the speaker of the afternoon.

Mrs. Thomas Rice, 67, Lived In Aurora 25 Years

The death occurred suddenly at Aurora on Saturday of Mrs. Mary Rice, wife of Thomas Rice, for many years a resident of Aurora.

Mrs. Rice, who was in her 68th year, was born at Springdale. Her parents were Charles and Elizabeth, Holdenby Shropshire. She had resided here for the past 25 years and lived in Simcoe county for some years. She was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church.

A daughter and a brother predeceased her earlier this year. She is survived by her husband and one daughter, Myrtle, Toronto.

Rev. S. W. Hirtle was in charge of the funeral service at P. M. Thompson's Funeral Home on Tuesday afternoon. Interment was at Hillcrest cemetery, Kettleby.

SAINTS WIN AGAIN

St. Andrew's college footballers won a double-header on Friday. The juniors defeated Newmarket high school 11-1 and the bantams defeated U.T.S. bantams 18-0. In the Newmarket game, Frey and McKenzie got a major each and Montgomery a convert. Tom Dales booted one to the deadline for the lone Newmarket score.

C.G.I.T. ORGANIZES

The C.G.I.T. group of Aurora United church organized for the year on Friday evening. Barbara Seaton was elected president, Nora Knowles, vice-president, June Caulfield secretary, and Barbara Cook treasurer. Aileen Belyea, Mrs. C. J. Devins and Mrs. Donald Webster helped the group get organized. There are around 25 girls on the roll.

GOLF FINALISTS

Finalists have been reached in the Lancock (handicap) trophy at the Aurora Golf club. They are Hugh McRae and Larry Molyneaux of Newmarket. Another competition to be decided is the Charles Dawson Memorial trophy. Billy Hoaks, Tod Chatterley and Frank Barnes are left in the running.

DOWN THE CENTRE

Billy Mundell, young all-round athlete of Aurora high school, took the school intermediate track and field championship as handily as any title at the school has ever been won. He finished first in no less than 10 events and in three or four did better than the seniors. His 38 feet in the hop, step and jump bested by over two feet the oldest standing record on the school books set by Rusty McDonald way back in 1926. It was but five and a half inches back of the senior mark set by the late Bruce Stiles in 1932.

That running broad jump of 19 feet 2½ inches is deserving of mention too. Jimmy Cook, who is in France now, held the previous mark of 17 feet 9½ inches set in 1934. The senior record is 19 feet 7½ inches, set by Bruce Stiles in 1932. Bruce, as you know, has paid the supreme sacrifice in Italy. If anybody is likely to break the record in the future, it should be Mundell.

Stiles was the top-notch track man of his day and also set a 10.2 mark in the century, but we think we are correct in saying Bill Cripps, lanky geared Newmarket boy, did over 21 feet in competition at least once around 1924 or 1925. Cripps was an unusual athlete, very thin, with spindly legs and abnormal height for his age but he could do everything well.

Doug Marshall, the Redman hockey star, was another broad jump expert, but never hit the 20 feet mark. Mundell's mark is very close to being the best made in Canada today and with the proper coaching he should be close to Olympic calibre in the field events especially in a few years. Right now he is 16 and ready to start again a promising hockey career in the junior O.H.A. His father wants him to play with Richmond Hill again, and Charlie Rowntree, whom we saw at one of the Mann Cup games, is counting on him to form one of his regualr forward lines.

This year's crop of athletes at the high school is one of the best in years, Bill Linton, Bill McGhee and some of the juniors being outstanding prospects. Gar Doolittle, who scintillated all year at baseball and was generally regarded as the best kid outfielder in these parts, while he didn't crack any records, was not far behind most of them, and of course, with better competition might have broken some.

Victory Aircraft, who won the T.H.L. junior hockey championship and played off with the local group winners, Markham, according to Rowntree will likely try to get in the district junior O.H.A. group. Several of the Hill boys and one or two others scouted by Farmer Rowntree have already been offered good jobs by the Malton plant. The aircraft boys gave Markham quite a scare last winter and if they do get in the group would have a contending team. Just where they would play their home games is not known. Might be another navy case coming up and Jimmy Walker, Grant Nighswander and the other club impressarios would be well advised to think over the matter. In another month hockey will be a serious matter on the sports agenda and the O.H.A. will be starting to form groups.

Lloyd Finkbeiner, former professional hand, now the property of the Buffalo club, is said to be stationed at Newmarket camp right now. At least "Fink" played first base for the Redmen in their series against Brantford camp. Three years ago Finkbeiner performed for the Camp Borden army team and was permitted to play for Midland in the O.H.A. against Sutton Greenshirts. If Bing Caswell has Finkbeiner on his roster he has secured a valuable addition and solved one of his defence worries.

Another prominent athlete is on strength at No. 23. We refer to L.-Cpl. Milt Wallace, bespectacled track star. Wallace won fame in inter-collegiate competition, was a member of the last Canadian Olympic team and for the past two years, as a member of the Simcoe camp track team, has been burning up the cinderpath at one and three mile distances. He is the M.D. 2 champion at both events.

On Thanksgiving day, in company with Allistair Cameron, top runner at distance events at the camp, he entered a five-mile road race at Guelph. Facing the fastest competition in Canada, Cameron finished fifth and Wallace, who was not feeling well, was right behind him. Both boys were entered in the famous around-the-bay marathon at Hamilton on Saturday and were reported to be in top form for the event.

Mentioning track recalls the fact that Lieut. Larry O'Connor, first track coach at Newmarket and another former Olympic star, has been invalided home from overseas suffering from a wounded right arm. Larry was the platoon officer of Aurora's Ace Yake, who also stopped a lot of shrapnel in the same show.

Aurora Ordnance depot has had a wide variety of athletes on hand but we fail to remember a boxer of prominence among the number.

Right now Al Schroeder of Medicine Hat, a lightweight of better than average ability, is on staff. Schroeder won several army fights around Hamilton last spring and made a creditable showing against as doughty opponents as the celebrated Baby Yack. Schroeder will likely be seen on some of the fight cards being readied by Leon Wadsworth and Yack for Newmarket camp.

Bill Thoms, the pride of Newmarket, drops us a line from the nest of the Chicago Black Hawks at Hibbing, Minnesota, that he is rounding into form and that Hawks have a likely looking lineup. Bill is wearing a special pad for protection this winter. This kept him in Chicago a few days later than the others, but already Paul Thompson has announced he intends to play Sweet William at centre. Red Mitchell, Richmond Hill, is included in the list of starting defence players after two years absence from big time, and the veteran, Earl Siebert, Joe Cooper and a new recruit, Joe Bretto, who is American-born and weighs 220 pounds, will form a bouncing blue line quartet. We will have more news of the Hawks at a later date.

We omitted mentioning last week that Kenneth Richards had broken the 75 yard dash record at Aurora high school. He travelled the distance in 9 4-5 seconds. He kept the record in the family, however, for it had previously been held by his elder brother, Owen Richards, now serving with the R.C.A.F.
